COUNCIL VOTES FUNDS FOR 3 YULE EVENTS

but it is expected that all programs will be held the night of Dec. 22 in order to avoid overcrowding at each one. Last year the playground group at Waverly gave 450 presents and expects to distribute about 500 this holiday, according to Jesse W. Crowther, secretary-treasurer.

Fire chief A. B. Stevenson announced that each child appearing at the auditorium for the fire department's celebration will be given a numbered ticket. During the course of the program two major gifts—both donated by the Torrance Retail Merchants' Association—will be awarded a lucky boy and an equally fortunate girl. Parents of children under school age may apply at the central fire station now for these tickets.

Chief Stevenson said the city council increased the allocation to the firemen's Yuletide party by $10 over last year. The request for financial assistance was first sent the Chamber of Commerce, whose directors approved the project but sent the request on to the council for action.

Steel Orders Continue To Pour In

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Steel companies have the heaviest unfilled tonnages on their books since 1929 and orders are still pouring in except in those products for which books have been closed at fourth quarter prices, Iron Age said today in the weekly review of the industry.

Makers are exerting all pressure to complete shipments of these orders by Jan. 31 so they can realize at the earliest moment higher prices announced for first quarter, the trade journal says.

"Mills have announced that on identified construction projects, including railroad equipment," the review said, "they will protect contractors at fourth quarter prices on all jobs quoted on Dec. 31 with the understanding that the binding contracts shall be entered into by Jan. 31 and specifications shall be in by Mar. 31 with rolling and shipment at mill convenience."

California Voters Set New Record With Ballots

Credit it to the personal popularity of President Roosevelt, the weather, the times or whatever you wish, but the fact remains that California voters took more interest in the 1936 presidential election than ever before in the history of the state.

Official Nov. 3 election figures compiled by Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan show that more voters, both numerically and proportionately, marched to the polls to cast their ballots than at any other time.

The total vote cast amounted to 2,712,342, or 88 percent of the official registration of 3,063,831. Of this total, the Roosevelt-Garner ticket garnered 1,766,823, or 930,405 more votes than the 836,481 credited to the Landon-Knox ticket.

Changing Trend

The highly complimentary vote given the Bourbon leaders represents a continuation of the changing trend in California politics started some years ago. Back in the 1928 Presidential election, Herbert Hoover was tops with the California electorate which gave him 1,162,828 votes, almost double the 614,860 credited to Al Smith in the official records. The total vote that year was 1,948,027.

In 1932 the Democrats began to show their strength and handed the state over to Roosevelt with 1,824,167 votes while Hoover dropped down to 847,902. The total vote then amounted to 2,330,182. This year, Landon failed to equal even the Hoover showing of '32, and Roosevelt added another 449,670 to his substantial total of the previous election.

State Test Due On Hunt Well

Having sunk a 10-inch casing down to the 3,000-foot level, the Hunt Oil company is awaiting a state inspection today at its deep-test well off the intersection of Hawthorne and Sepulveda boulevards. Deep-sand activity is continuing in the southwest slope of the old Torrance oil field with Dunlap reported going in a few hundred yards west of the Hunt well off Sepulveda and C.O.M.O., preparing a deep thrust on the opposite corner to the Hunt exploration.

As soon as the state test is completed, the Hunt workers will drill out the plug and in a few days expect to put down an eight and five-eighths-inch casing. Then they will start taking cores.

Dearborn Oil company's Flint No. 1, off Sepulveda, is reported continuing a yield at the rate of 400 barrels a day of 28 degree gravity oil with a cut of 20 percent drilling mud and water. This deep-test job launched the leasing activity in this area two weeks ago.

Offset Well Planned

It is a deepening job of the zone which was tapped by C. C. M. O. in its Del Amo No. 23. The well was bottomed at 4,586 feet with four and three-quarter-inch combination shutoff at 4,300 feet taking in 256 feet of zone. This well was originally drilled by Standard Oil to 3,751 feet and abandoned some time ago.

Killingsworth Bros. is reported as preparing to drill an offset well on the north, while Fullerton Oil will start work on its lease to the east. Signal Oil of California is a joint project with Dearborn Oil are planning to deepen old Standard Oil Flint No. 2.
